DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 12-16,18-20,22,23, and 25-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Eggert (3,912,295). Eggert discloses an automotive shell structure arrangement comprising parallel longitudinal members 10 arranged on each side of the structure; an integral support that is attached to the ends of the longitudinal members 10 and extends between the longitudinal members and comprises energy-absorbing elements 16,18,20 that absorb impact energy and channel impact energy into the longitudinal members 10; crash boxes 31 that act as additional energy absorbing means and that extend from a front end in the direction of travel of the integral support and that are provided on each lateral side of the end of the integral support; and a crossmember 30 connecting said crash boxes. Regarding claims 19 and 20, crossmember comprises a left half and a right half, each half being a different part of the crossmember, wherein each half is connected at one end directly to a crash box and at the other end the half of the crossmember is connected to the other half of the crossmember, which is subsequently attached to the integral support via a crash box. With further regard to claim 22, the crossmember may be seen as having a lever arrangement with the crash boxes as disclosed by Eggert as an impact force is channeled into the crash boxes.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. Claims 17, 24, and 31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Eggert in view of Lopic (6,422,604). Eggert discloses the present invention except for the integral support having mounting sockets adapted to the shape of the crash boxes. Lopic teaches a vehicle body and frame assembly including an energy absorbing structure comprising longitudinal members 11,12 and crash boxes 21, wherein the longitudinal members 11,12 have mounting sockets in which a first portion 23 of one of the crash boxes 21 is received. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the integral support of Eggert with the mounting sockets and receivable crash boxes of Lopic to more easily and cheaply mount the crash boxes to the integral support structure.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claim 21 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
